

The Journal* Named Best Podcast for 3rd Consecutive Year

July 29, 2024, Schaumburg, Illinois — The Journal From Rockwell Automation and Our PartnerNetwork™ magazine has won the 2024 Award of Excellence, Electronic Media - Apps & Podcasts, for its “Automation Chat” podcast that serves the industrial automation industry. The honor, bestowed by the 2024 Annual APEX Awards of Publication Excellence in Corporate Communications, feted the podcast for its content quality, compelling interviews, industry relevance and engagement metrics. This is the third year in a row The Journal has won this honor.

“Automation Chat” is hosted, produced and promoted by Executive Editor Theresa Houck, and videos are produced by Art Director Derek Chamberlain and Digital Editor Maggie McHale. It provides fun, informative conversations with industrial automation pros about technology advancements, digital transformation and industry trends that affect manufacturers.

“Automation Chat” is available on all podcast apps, on the web at <https://rokthejournal.podbean.com>, or on YouTube at <http://bit.ly/autochatpod>.

*The Journal From Rockwell Automation and Our PartnerNetwork™* is published by Endeavor Business Media for Milwaukee-based Rockwell Automation. This custom publication brand publishes four print magazines as well as eBooks, research reports, webinars, podcasts, videos, white papers, e-newsletters and more. A 31-year collaboration between Endeavor Business Media and Rockwell Automation, the publication educates industrial automation and manufacturing professionals about news, trends and leading-edge technology.

The esteemed Annual APEX Awards for Publication Excellence in Corporate Communications is sponsored by Communications Concepts and recognizes business, trade and specialty publications produced by professional business communicators.

For more information, contact Theresa Houck, thouck@endeavorb2b.com.

